

1st LATIN AMERICAN SYMPOSIUM ON SUSTAINABILITY

Curitiba, Brazil
22nd-24th August 2022

BACKGROUND

Sustainability was in a way already discussed some centuries ago. In the 70's the term gained relevance after many environmental disasters that occurred worldwide. International organizations and scientists started discussing the topic as a way to determine opportunities for a sustainable world and identify barriers that prevented communities around the world to achieve a more sustainable way of life.

Thirty years after the Rio de Janeiro Earth Summit (1992), research in the field is growing every year, which makes sustainability very interesting in the academia. Nevertheless, the main research agenda has been carried out by the United States, China, United Kingdom, and Canada (Olawumi and Chan, 2018), showing to other regions the great opportunity to bring their agenda to the global discussion.

It is against this background that the “1st LATIN AMERICAN SYMPOSIUM ON SUSTAINABILITY” is being organized by the Pontifícia Universidade Católica do Paraná (PUCPR) in Curitiba, Brazil, the Research and Transfer Centre “Sustainable Development and Climate Change Management” of the Hamburg University of Applied Sciences (Germany), and the Inter-University Sustainable Development Research Programme (IUSDRP). The Symposium will be co-organized by UPB – Universidad Pontificia Bolivariana - Colombia, UNIFE – Università degli Studi di Ferrara – Italy, and UC – Universidad de Colima – Mexico.

The Symposium will be a truly multi and interdisciplinary event, mobilizing scholars, social movements, practitioners and members of governmental agencies and private companies, undertaking research and/or executing projects focusing on sustainability from across the world.

The “1st LATIN AMERICAN SYMPOSIUM ON SUSTAINABILITY” will focus on “how society, businesses and organizations can operate in a responsible, socially inclusive and environmentally sustainable way”, meaning that it will serve the purpose of showcasing experiences from research, field projects and best practice to foster social responsibility and sustainability, which may be useful or implemented elsewhere.

AIMS

Consistent with the need for more cross-sectorial and cross-cultural interactions among the various stakeholders working in the field of sustainability, the aims of the “1st LATIN AMERICAN SYMPOSIUM ON SUSTAINABILITY” are as follows:

- I. to provide research institutions, universities, NGOs, government agencies and enterprises from the region with an opportunity to display and present their works in the field of sustainability;
- II. to foster the exchange of information, ideas, and experiences acquired in the execution of sustainability projects, especially successful initiatives and good practice across the Latin America;
- III. to discuss methodological approaches and experiences deriving from case studies and projects, which aim to show how sustainability may be enhanced in practice;
- IV. to promote an open and productive regional dialogue.
- V. to network the participants and provide a platform so they can explore possibilities for cooperation.

Last but not least, a further aim of the event will be to document and disseminate the wealth of experiences available today. To this purpose, the book “Sustainability: addressing challenges and creating opportunities in Latin America” will be published, with all accepted papers. This will be a further volume of the award-winning World Sustainable Development book series published by Springer, which since its creation in 2015 has become the world’s leading book series on applied sustainable development. The decision of the editors as to which papers may be selected and undergo peer review for the book is final.

STRUCTURE OF THE EVENT

The “1st LATIN AMERICAN SYMPOSIUM ON SUSTAINABILITY” will be organised in two main strands:

Strand 1: the posters

Participants and organisations will be able to put-up posters describing their works and projects and to distribute the relevant information to the participants. The posters will be the backbone of the event and will allow close, one-to-one contacts between the participants and the exhibitors.

Strand 2: the presentations

A set of presentations, divided into four main themes will be organised, distributed over parallel sessions dealing with some of the issues of strategic value in the field of sustainability. These are:

1. Institutional organisation, structures, and corporate policies;
2. Approaches towards resource efficiency (e.g. energy, water, wastes, materials);
3. Community and Stakeholder relations;

Abstract

The impacts of universities to the environment, and the consumption of natural resources as part of their activities and in support of their infra-structure, is significant. This means that the implementation of the principles of social responsibility as part of their sustainability efforts has become a pressing issue. Among other factors, the integration of social responsibility and sustainability initiatives at many universities is made difficult by the general lack of awareness and spread misconceptions about the meaning of social responsibility which, in turn, slows down the process of integration of social responsibility and sustainability initiatives. This paper presents an analysis about the misconceptions related to the implementation of social responsibility and sustainability initiatives at universities, describes the most widespread ones, as well as their implications. A special emphasis is given to the problems and barriers caused by misinformation, which – in turn- prevent the promotion of social responsibility and sustainability initiatives at the institutional level in an integrated manner. Finally, some concrete steps which may be taken in order to break the misconceptions and foster a closer integration of social responsibility and sustainability initiatives at universities, are outlined.

HOW TO SUBMIT A PAPER

A paper should be up to 5000 words, in English, it should describe the rationale and aims of the paper, the methodology and theoretical references, results and final considerations. The full contact details about the author(s) need to be provided. A template will be available on January, 2022.
